The ECC Monthly Minute

Happy Father’s Day to all the great dads out there! Father’s Day comes around to give dads that one day to recognize and celebrate what they mean to us. We honor them with gifts and cookouts and our time.

Many connections can be drawn between our relationships with our earthly father and our Heavenly Father. Just as God provides, protects, and guides His children, earthly fathers are called to do the same for their families. But as we go from children to adults, our relationship with our fathers tends to change. We no longer rely on our dads to provide for us, or to protect us. We might still lean on Dad for his wisdom or even just his company, but with his strong teachings we learn how to care and provide for our own budding families.

But our relationship with our Heavenly Father evolves in a different way. He is still in control over our lives. He is still our provider, protector, and guide. We may even as adults tend to rely on Him more as we face endless challenges that come so frequently with adulthood.

The death of Jesus on the cross is proof of God’s love for us. God is so good.

Remember as we give dads their day to celebrate, we honor and worship our Heavenly Father every day with our lives.

“I will be a Father to you,
and you will be my sons and daughters,
says the Lord Almighty.”
2 Corinthians 6:18
